Prices of Meat in Germany.

The German Reichstag, yesterday discussed a socialist interpellation asking Chancellor von Buelow what measures the imperial government proposes to take against the meat scarcity.

pared with previous years.

The price of pork, he said, was 12½ cents per metric hundredweight in Chicago, 19½ cents at Rotterdam, 31½ cents in Berlin and 33½ cents at Stuttgart. He denied that the closure of the frontiers was necessary to protect German live stock against foreign disease, since such diseases were rare in France, Holland and Denmark, whereas 36,000 farms in Germany were reported to be affected with red murrain in 1904 and 45,000 in 1905. He admitted that if the present prices be-came permanent it would be necessary to take steps to get cheaper mea tand said that the animals brought to market slaughtered in 1905 were 6 per cent. lighter than the animals slaughtered in President Count von Ballestrem called General von Podbielski to order for saying that Scheidemann had "made him self the mouthpiece for all the malicious nonsense printed about me in the news-

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fia, describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Flectric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Gunranteed at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store; price 50c.
